

i am shocked that any one would consider stopping such a vital service as traffic and weather on xm. i am a truck driver and in the past it was seldom when i could find a station in certain areas, especially in the mountainess areas, what the weather was like. or coming out of the mountains on interstate 80 down into denver, to find what the traffic was like. try to find a loacal in that situation. also knowing the traffic in chicago, dallas, los angeles, etc. and doing it way ahead of time so i can find alternate routes is invaluable. also i get on and tell many more other drivers and we all go the alternate way, meaning that there are many fewer vehicles that are gonna be tying up the road, meaning many fewer chances for more accidents. and all this is in addition to the entertainment value. the many different music stations for any and all tastes. and not having to fumble for a station is great. and the news that keeps me in touch. i can go on and on but why. it is a great service and the only thing that is needed is adding more cities for traffic updates. i am a loyal subscriber and now that i have xm i can guarantee that i could never go without it ever again.
